PRESSURE FOR A FAVORABLE REPLY

THE LATIN-AMERICAN DIPLOMATS THINK THEY WILL SUCCEED.

NO LET UP IN ACTIVITY OF U. S. MILITIA

Troops on the Border Will Be Split in Three Divisions Under Funston, Bell and Pershing.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Washington, July 3.—Pressure by the Latin-American diplomats in Mexico City is the real reason for the delay of sending the Carranza reply to the American note. This was admitted by the Latin-American diplomats here today, and they express confidence they will succeed in getting a favorable reply.

In the meanwhile there will be no let up in the activity of the U. S. militia forces being distributed to the border ready for immediate action.

The present danger, officials say, is a clash between the American and Mexican forces which might precipitate hostilities.

Arriving at the Border.

El Paso, July 3.—Thirty-five car loads of militia, including infantry and cavalry are scheduled to arrive on the border today.

Cross Border After Raiders.

San Antonio, Texas, July 3.—Capt. Le Roy Eltinge, with two troops of the Eighth cavalry, searched the country on the Mexican side of the river, opposite Fort Hancock, Texas, yesterday for bandits who yesterday fled back into Mexico after raiding the American side. Late today a report received at Fabens, Texas, said the troops had recrossed the river, the trails having been lost.

The best information obtainable indicated there were only eight Mexicans in the raiding party which drove off a few head of horses and cattle yesterday from a ranch fifty-four miles southeast of El Paso.

Sentries Clash at Nogales.

All reports received at Gen. Funston's headquarters yesterday indicated nothing more exciting along the international line than the exchange of shots between sentries at Nogales. Apparently no early offensive by the concentrated forces of the Mexicans in front of Gen. Pershing's positions was contemplated.

All officers commanding troops along the 1,700 miles of border have been cautioned to avoid clashes with the Mexican troops that face them, but the recurrence of such incidents as that at Nogales has caused staff officers to fear that an incident may occur at any time that may serve as the basis for further complexing a situation already bad.

Troops in Three Divisions.

Washington, July 3.—The war department issued orders for the troops at the border which forecasts the appointment of a new commander-in-chief, according to officials. Under the new orders the troops will be split in three divisions, to be commanded by General Funston, General Pershing and General Bell. In the future both Bell and Pershing are to report direct to the war department instead of through Funston.

To Finance Military Activity.

Issue of bonds to finance military activity growing out of the Mexican crisis was considered at a conference of the administration financial leaders. Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo took part in the conference, and a formal financial program will be arranged as soon as possible. So far the Mexican military movement has cost one hundred and twenty-six million dollars, and the expenses are mounting rapidly.

Secretary of State Lansing announced this afternoon that there will be no change in the administration's policy regarding Mexico, reiterating that the state and war departments refused to take responsibility in moving troops closer to the border, and declaring that Pershing acted on his own initiative.

No Guards Will Be Called Out.

No new national guard units will be called out at the present time, according to the war department announcement.

Army Appropriation Bill.

The senate military affairs committee agreed on an army appropriation bill of $328,000,000, an increase of over $46,000,000 over the house bill.

The house adopted the amendment in the agricultural bill abolishing free seeds.

Troop Trains to Border.

El Paso, July 3.—Troop trains carrying guards are constantly passing through here today. Reports say everything is quiet along the border, barring a few cases of sniping.

ALL BAND BOYS PASSED

FOURTH REGIMENT BAND LEAVES TODAY FOR THE BORDER.

George Crowson and Earl Bricker Failed in First Examination—Donations Were Appreciated.

(By I. B. Williams, Member Fourth Regiment Band.)

Camp Clark, Nevada, July 1.—We are expecting to leave here in the morning for the border. The First regiment left last night. Battery C and the signal corps are entraining now. We are expecting to break camp tonight.

I am feeling a little weak in the back right now. The serum is taking effect and we are laying in the shade and don't dare to get in the sun much.

Earl Bricker and George Crowson failed on the first examination on account of bad eyesight. They will be given another chance at 1 o'clock. We figure that they will pass. They also figured my ankle wasn't as weak as it ought to be. So I am going along to the border.

The Christian church box arrived last night and the Commercial club donation of $28. They both came in real handy, and were very much appreciated by the boys.

I understand we are to be vaccinated for small pox this afternoon.

According to a dispatch from Nevada today the Fourth regiment, with General Clark and his staff, will leave today.

A letter from Frank Schumacher to his brother, Ed Schumacher, says that all the boys in the band passed the examination.

The funeral took place this morning from the home and the services were conducted by the Rev. Weaver of the Christian church at Burlington Junction. Burial was in the Ohio cemetery.

FERN THEATRE

THEY GAVE PLENTY

'GIFT NIGHT HUGE SUCCESS FROM STANDPOINT OF FOOD AND CASH.

TO SEND TEN DOLLARS

One Barrel of Goodies Already Packed, and Still Donations of Sweets Arrive.

Cakes, fruits, candies, books, magazines and — cash — these are the things that the boys of the Fourth Regiment Band of Maryville will be enjoying as a result of the "gift night" held last night under the auspices of the Union of Young People's Societies at the Empire Theatre.

Although the weather was warm, and the many fans that are always in motion at the theatre weren't of much help in making life bearable for the members, yet, they were all there and helped to make the meeting an entire success.

The band was in good form and gave a number of selections from the patriotic airs. Edward Gray, once a member of the band, led the prayer and H. J. Becker gave a saxophone solo.

The collection was then taken up, and about ten dollars was given in cash. The packages were brought today, and at 3 o'clock one barrel had been packed. The prospects are that about one barrel and one box of necessities and luxuries will be shipped tonight.

The barrel contains cakes, packages of fruit, candies of all kinds, books, magazines, towels, wash cloths — in fact, everything that thoughtful mothers and willing sisters could think of.

It is not known when the Fourth Regiment will move for the border, but it is surmised that it will be today or tomorrow. If the boys go today, arrangements will be made to send the gifts right on after them so that they may enjoy home cooking under Texan skies.

THE FEDS WIN 14-1

RUSHVILLE RANGERS EASY FOR MARYVILLE TEAM.

FEDS TO PLAY TOMORROW

A Good Game Promised For the Fourth, When They Play the All-Star Team of St. Joseph.

It took the Feds to take some of the "pep" out of the Rushville Rangers yesterday afternoon. The Maryville boys hit their way to a 14-1 victory over the highly touted visitors. Several car loads of fans came with the Rangers, and one of the visiting rooters said it about right when he said to his team, "You're playing like a bunch of school kids."

Eddie Finch, formerly of the Falls City team of the Mink league, started on mound duty for the Rushville boys, but the Feds got to him for two runs in the second and kept it up until he was "all in" in the sixth, and he was "jerked" with none out in that inning. The Feds scored two in the second, three in the fourth, four in the sixth and five in the eighth, while the Rangers had to be content with one in the fourth off of a base on balls and two hits.

"Jeff" Thieman twirled for the Feds and was directly responsible for six runs, hitting four over with a double and triple and scoring twice himself. He allowed ten hits but kept them scattered, and pitched well in tight places. Only twice he allowed two hits in one inning.

Stewart, who has played third base for several teams in St. Joe, played short for the Feds, and Capt. Scott went to center field.

Tomorrow the Feds will play the All-Star team of the St. Joseph Sunday School league, the game being called at 3 o'clock. The box score:

TO HAVE SANE 4TH HERE

NEARLY ALL BUSINESS HOUSES WILL CLOSE ALL DAY.

Many People to Go to Picnics, Basket Dinners—Several Celebrations to Be Held.

Maryville is to have the safest and sanest Fourth of July in its history and nearly every store in the city will be closed all day. Many of the people will spend the day fishing and picnicing and a number will attend the celebrations to be held at Conception Junction, Wilcox, Parnell, Palestine church, Mt. Tabor and at Pleasant Grove and elsewhere outside of Nodaway county.

Theodore Snowberger one of the "live wires" who is pushing forward the preparations for the Palestine Fourth of July program has this to say to those who contemplate spending the holiday in that section of the county:

The program committee having only one week to engage talent for the Fourth of July program at Palestine church found it difficult to secure speakers, most of them having made other arrangements.

We are, however, able at this late date to announce definitely Rev. C. M. Chilton of St. Joseph will be here. Hal Catterson and H. J. Becker will furnish music, bringing a quartette and possibly a violin. There will be plenty of good things to eat and some athletic features. The ladies will sell ice cream, lemonade and candy.

Concentrated fire of big guns on both sides are contending for ruins.

THE FOURTH FORTY YEARS AGO

Maryville Celebrated With All Its Thrills The Centennial Anniversary of the Declaration of Independence

Forty years ago, July 4, 1876, Maryville celebrated our national anniversary, it being centennial year. Six thousand people were in attendance.

Here is the story of the celebration as taken from the Nodaway Democrat of July 6, 1876:

The morning of the Fourth was a little unfavorable. Considerable rain fell during the night of the 3rd, and on Tuesday morning many were predicting that it would probably rain before noon. These predictions, however, were not verified, and by the hour of 9 a. m. the sun began to shine out in beauty and splendor, and the people began to come into town from all directions.

At 10 o'clock the procession was formed with the Maryville Cornet band at its head, and marched to the beautiful grove three quarters of a mile north of town to congregate. A. P. Morehouse, S. R. Beech and S. K. Wray acted as marshals. After arriving at the grounds, as soon as the seats were occupied and the audience became t, the choir selected for the occasion took the platform and sang the "Centennial Hymn." The following gentlemen composed the choir: Prof. Fletcher, organist; Messrs. Bailey, Gaunt Moore, D. R. Eversole, Dr. Morrison, Mr. Emmons, H. H. Geiger and D. T. Geiger.

After singing the "Centennial Hymn" prayer was offered up by the chaplain of the day, Rev. J. W. Caughlan. The choir sang "Hail Columbia" and a piece was played by the band. William Howden was then introduced, who recited the Declaration of Independence. This he did in elegant style. The orator of the day, Gov. Silas Woodson of St. Joseph, was then introduced to the audience by the president, Hon. M. G. Roseberry, in a few well-timed remarks. Among many good things he said, Mr. Woodson spoke of Nodaway county in 1850 having but 2,118 population—now she has at least 20,000. At the same rate of increase in 25 years she will have 40,000; in 50 years, 80,000; in 100 years, 320,000. This might seem visionary, but our present population would have seemed visionary twenty years ago.

At the close of his speech the audience was dismissed for an hour and a half to partake of dinner. When the time was up the people were called together again by the playing of a piece of music by the band. After this followed vocal music by the choir. Dr. H. E. Robinson was then introduced, who gave his "Reminiscences of Nodaway County." "Our Flag" was responded to by Jerry Harrigan.

The toast "Constitutional Liberty" was responded to by Judge I. K. Alderman in his usual vigorous and forcible style. James Monier's response to the "American People" was a fine effort. Fred O. Snyder made the response to the "Public Schools of America." It was well and eloquently done.

The Maryville Cornet band was highly praised for the excellent music. The band is under the leadership of Prof. Dugan.

It was a grand celebration and will be remembered for many years to come. It was one worthy of the centennial year. We do not hesitate to say that it was the best celebration ever held in Nodaway county.

M.U. TO BORROW $50,000

Loan Made in Kansas City—Columbia Banks Refuse to Advance Any More.

The executive board of the University of Missouri at a meeting today made arrangements to borrow $50,000 from the Commerce Trust company of Kansas City to meet the current expenses. This deficit heretofore has been met by Columbia banks, but they have refused to make any more advances. No reason is given.

The board received notice that a $5,000 legacy is now available for a loan fund for Pettis county students.

THE CROPS ARE GOOD

FARMERS OVER THE STATE ARE HOPEFUL OVER THE OUTLOOK.

CORN CONDITION IS 79.4

Conditions Are Good for General Farm Crops, But Wheat Yield is Only 9.9 Bushels an Acre.

With favorable weather, practically all crops made marked improvemext during the latter part of June, according to the monthly crop report issued Saturday from the office of the Missouri state board of agriculture. The report follows:

The end of the month of June found everybody busy and everybody hopeful on Missouri farms, where there's no talk of turning the clocks up in order to get another hour of daylight. Right now, with late corn planting scarcely completed, with early corn to "lay by," and with wheat, oats and hay harvests all on hand, the length of the farmer's day is limited only by human endurance. Yet there is heard no complaint. This Missouri farmer is happy as he hustles. No devastating drouth has demanded its discount. The "Big Muddy" and smaller streams have kept within their banks. There is no complaint of chinch bugs, the army worm or other insect pests of field crops.

Corn—The Missouri corn crop is one of contrasts. While many fields have been given the last plowing, there are others in which planting is just now being completed. This is due to excessive rains earlier in the season. While some corn is in urgent need of cultivation, most fields are comparatively clean. The latter part of June was exceedingly favorable for field activities. It is important, though, that the ground be stirred right now as the soil in many fields, plowed too wet, is showing a tendency to "bake." Corn is generally of good color and is making a fine growth since the coming of warmer weather. In some sections showers would be beneficial. For the state as a whole, correspondents report corn condition at 79.4, as compared with 76, one year ago, and with a 10-year average of 80.9. By sections, condition shows: Northeast, 78; northwest, 74; central, 81; southwest, 82; southeast, 82. Present estimate as to acreage shows a loss of 2.8 per cent as compared with 7,218,500 acres last year. The principal decrease is in the northeast section, the next heaviest in the southeast.

Wheat—Harvest conditions are all that could be desired, and the wheat crop is going into shock in good shape. The yield, though, will be the lowest for many years. Final figures on condition of part not harvested show 57.8, or practically the same as one month ago, when the report showed 57.2. Present figures would be lower but for the abandoned acreage, not now counted in condition, and representing a clear loss of 17.6 per cent. A little more than one-third—34.4—of the wheat is now in shock, as compared with the 5-year July 1 harvest progress of 78.6 per cent. Two years ago less than 1 per cent of the crop remained to be cut after July 1. Present harvesting by sections shows: northeast, 17 per cent; northwest, 4; central, 43; southwest, 43; southeast, 65. Threshing is just starting in the most southern counties, so that it is too early to forecast the yield with any degree of certainty. A preliminary estimate by correspondents gives the state yield as 9.9 bushels, or, by sections, as follows: Northeast, 9.5; northwest, 15.3; central, 8.5; southwest, 8.1; southeast, 8.3. The yield will vary greatly—from 3 to 30 bushels, and in a few instances practically nothing. In some of the counties in the east-central and southeast sections, where the wheat yield is generally good, the crop this year will not exceed five bushels per acre. This is due mainly to Hessian fly. Based upon present estimates, the total yield from 1,614,380 acres, the part remaining after deducting the abandoned acreage, will represent approximately 16,000,000 bushels.

Oats—The oat crop is fine. Condition for the state is 88, as compared with a 5-year average of 76. By sections, condition figures show; Northeast, 86; northwest, 94; central, 92; southwest, 88; southeast, 80. Taking the state as a whole, only about 10 per cent of the oat crop is in shock. A preliminary estimate as to yield per acre places it at 30 bushels per acre. If this estimate is later realized it will represent a state yield of more than 30,000,000 bushels.

Other crops—An abundant crop of hay is being saved in good shape. Condition of timothy is 90.4. Clover condition is 91.6, with yield per acre of first cutting estimated at 1.6 tons, and acreage of 97 per cent as compared with last year's crop. Alfalfa condition is 86.2; yield of first cutting, 1.3 tons per acre, and acreage of 94.2 per cent. Pastures continue excellent, the condition being 110.8. Cotton acreage is 108, and condition 81.2; flax acreage, 76.5, and condition 89.9; tobacco acreage, 87.8, and condition 84; broomcorn acreage, 93, and condition, 88; potato acreage, 101.6, and condition, 90.8. Prospects are for a decreased acreage of cowpeas, and for a slight decrease in acreage of prairie hay, the present condition of which is 94. Acreage of barley for 1916 harvest shows 90.7 per cent; rye, 84.4. Prospect for an apple crop is less promising, present figures being 61. Peaches show 22 per cent.

LABOR IN RUSSIA GOING UP

Prohibition of Vodka is Filling Peasant Banks With Money—Luxuries Enjoyed Now.

Since the prohibition of vodka the price of labor in Russia has gone up in a remarkable manner, says Prof. J. Y. Simpson in the British Weekly. "The peasant banks are full of money," he tells us, "loans have been paid off, and agricultural implements purchased on the installment plan have been bought outright. Having supplied themselves with gramophones and watches and new clothes, the peasants now employ their money in buying land and even securities, or starting little businesses. One hundred million rubles per month used to be spent on vodka; today it remains the economy of peasant life. On all hands the people demand that it shall be banished forever. The last speech I heard in the duma was that of a peasant delegate insisting that the permanent prohibition of vodka be embodied in legal enactment now."

HOWS THIS FOR A MARCH

Soldier Told to Walk Until He Met Sentry, Tramps Eighteen Miles.

Special to the Democrat-Forum.

Douglas, Ariz., July 1.—Adam Dockery, a private in Company B, Arizona national guard, reported yesterday as missing, returned to camp today after walking nearly forty miles while on outpost duty. The private, a recent recruit, it was said at headquarters, was placed on guard at the international line yesterday with instructions to walk to the east until he met the sentry he was to relieve.

In some manner Dockery missed the sentry, officers stated today. He kept walking until finally he met a patrol on guard at Slaughter's ranch, eighteen miles east of camp.

"Dockery certainly obeyed instructions," an officer remarked, "but it is a good thing he met the patrol or he probably would have walked to El Paso."

THE FATHER OF THE FOURTH

THIS STATUE OF THOMAS JEFFERSON, THE WORK OF KARL BITTER, ADORNS THE FRONT OF THE COUNTY COURTHOUSE IN CLEVELAND, O. IT IS CONSIDERED A WORK OF EXCEPTIONAL VIGOR AND FINE MODELING.

LATE in the afternoon of the Fourth of July, 1776, the old bell in the statehouse at Philadelphia rang out a joyous peal. A few moments before, exhausted by the great heat and vexed to desperation by a multitude of flies, the fathers of this country's liberties had unanimously adopted the Declaration which severed the thirteen colonies from Great Britain and made the United States of America forever free and independent.

To a certain tall, lanky, sandy haired delegate from Virginia, who had sat silent while his colleagues wrangled over the form and phraseology of the document, the action of the congress was a great relief, for in those days he had listened to much acrimonious criticism of the paper and had even seen certain passages stricken out entirely, and Thomas Jefferson could not sit by and see the child of his brain torn and rended with feelings of indifference any more than any other man. Yet in spite of the diversity of opinions among his fellow delegates, who suppressed in all some eighteen of the more fiery passages in the document, few other changes or additions were made.

A year before, when Thomas Jefferson, lately elected delegate to the Continental congress from Virginia, had gone riding into Philadelphia, he had no premonition that he was to perform the greatest task that could have been assigned to a patriot, the writing of the Declaration of Independence. A member of the Virginia house of burgesses from 1769, he had already made himself felt in public life in his own colony. But it was not until he found himself among those patriots, many of them intellectual giants, who made up the Continental congress that his real powers showed themselves. He could speak, though his voice became husky if he attempted much forensic discussion, but his pen was by all odds mightier than his tongue.

Jefferson's readiness in composition, his knowledge of British law and his love of freedom gave him solid standing in congress. Events were moving rapidly. The time had gone past for compromise. In May, 1776, the news reached congress that the Virginia convention was unanimous for independence, and on June 7 Richard Henry Lee, obeying the instructions of the Virginia legislature, moved that independence be declared.

On June 10 a committee was appointed to prepare a draft of a Declaration. The members of this committee were Jefferson, Franklin, John Adams, Roger Sherman and Robert R. Livingston.

Jefferson, having been elected chairman by reason of having received the greatest number of votes in the congress, was naturally asked to write the document. It was not difficult to guess what kind of a document would come from Jefferson's pen.

Doubtless it might have been different in form, but it could hardly have been different in sentiment if it had been written by any other member of the committee. There was a spirit in the air. It was the spirit of liberty. It filled every man's soul. It had already found its expressions in the writings of the French agitators and in the writings of Thomas Paine.

Jefferson did not need to create the Declaration. He had but to express the sentiments which were common to the mass of freedom loving men. In after years, when enemies declared that the authorship of the Declaration of Independence displayed a lack of originality and that every idea in it was "hackneyed" and was to be found in half a dozen earlier publications, Jefferson replied with perfect wisdom and fairness, "I did not consider it as any part of my charge to invent new ideas altogether and to offer no sentiment which had been expressed before."

It is this fact that has led some historians to allege that Thomas Paine may have had a hand in the writing of the Declaration of Independence, for without doubt there were expressed in some of his previous writings ideas of liberty and justice that of necessity animated many of the sentiments embodied in the document as written by Jefferson. But there seems to be no adequate foundation for the truth of the statement that Paine had any direct hand in its framing.

The original draft in Jefferson's handwriting is now in the state department at Washington. It shows alterations interlined in the handwriting of Franklin and Adams.

GOOD READING FOR JULY 4.

The time is near at hand which must probably determine whether Americans are to be freemen or slaves; whether they are to have any property they can call their own; whether their houses are to be pillaged and destroyed and themselves consigned to a state of wretchedness from which no human effort will deliver them. The fate of unborn millions will now depend, under God, on the courage and conduct of this army. Our enemy leaves us only the choice of a brave resistance or the most abject submission. We have, therefore, to resolve to conquer or die. Our own, our country's honor, calls upon us for a vigorous and manly exertion, and if we now shamefully fail we shall become infamous before the whole world. Let us, then, rely on the goodness of our cause and the aid of the Supreme Being, in whose hands victory is, to animate and encourage us to great and noble actions. The eyes of all our countrymen are now upon us, and we shall have their blessings and praises if happily we are the instruments of saving them from the tyranny meditated against them.—From Washington's Address to His Troops Before the Battle of Long Island.

A Paean and a Warning.

Spread your bunting, hang your wreaths,
Let your banners be unfurled!
Shout until the welkin seethes
All about the deafened world.
Get your old time speeches out;
Cheer until you split the skies,
But be careful, while you spout,
Of your eyes.
